UK Sales Manager

Muntons appoint Gary Lancaster

Gary Lancaster has joined the sales team at Muntons Ingredients as UK sales manager, with his main focus on UK food manufacturing.

With 27 years experience within the food and milling industry, Gary's technical milling background will prove to be an invaluable asset for Muntons rapidly growing ingredient business.

Muntons are a family owned company that has consistently invested in their ingredients manufacturing business, to ensure they are well placed to respond to the demands of the market place. The appointment of Gary Lancaster will ensure that this sense of sustainability will be passed on to our customer base.

Gary commented "Muntons are seeing continued growth and interest in malted ingredients. My experience within the milling and food industry, combined with the technical resources that Muntons already have in place, should prove a strong blend and help in the development and growth of new specialist markets and novel applications."
