

11 May 2010

Muntions has opened its Centre for Excellence

Muntions: Left to right, Steve Brown, Jonathan Pritchard, Graham Sutton and Andrew Fuller

Muntions, the leading supplier of malt and malted ingredients to the food and beverage industry, opened its state-of-the-art Centre for Excellence on the site of its headquarters in Stowmarket, UK on Wednesday 28 April 2010. The £500,000 investment, which includes a purpose built facility, will become a focus for innovation and new product development as part of an effort by Muntions to enhance and increase the range of services it offers food and beverage manufacturers.

The new Centre for Excellence houses an NPD kitchen, a sensory testing room, a bakery, and a micro-brewery and winery, enabling Muntons and its customers to work more closely together on developing new product concepts and improving existing ones. The centre will reduce the cost of NPD and cut the time required to bring new and improved products to market.

Ends

Company background

Founded 80 years ago, Stowmarket-based Muntons produces a range of malt products and malted ingredients for sale at retail and for use by food and beverage manufacturers. Major users of malted ingredients include: brewers, distillers, bakers and breakfast cereal manufacturers.

For more information contact:
Suzanne Howe
Suzanne Howe Communications
Tel: +44 (0)1732 875697
Email: info@suzannehowe.com